Component Mission

The National Counterproliferation Center (NCPC) coordinates strategic planning with the Intelligence Community (IC) to enhance intelligence support to the United States (U.S.) efforts to stem proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and related delivery systems. It works with the IC to identify critical intelligence gaps or shortfalls in collection, analysis, or exploitation; and develop solutions to ameliorate or close these gaps. It also works with the IC to identify long-term proliferation threats and requirements and develop strategies to ensure the IC is positioned to address these threats and issues. NCPC reaches out to elements both inside and outside the IC and the U.S. Government (USG) to identify new methods or technologies that can enhance the capabilities of the IC to detect and defeat future proliferation threats.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

- Lead, initiate, cultivate, and maintain productive working relationships with senior policymakers across the IC in order to coordinate strategy development activities and evolving requirements and promote the implementation of mission and enterprise objectives.
- As NCPC's senior advisor for WMD-related delivery systems and weaponization issues, advise NCPC seniors on issues affecting the enterprise including resource and capability issues, products, and programs. Provide expert analyses and recommendations to support their decision-making.
- Oversee the development and implementation of a comprehensive, proactive strategy to counter the proliferation of WMD delivery systems and weaponization efforts.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

- Examine, identify, monitor, and lead collection, analytic, and CP assessments to determine critical intelligence gaps, and provide innovative mitigation strategies and solutions.
- Develop and execute after-action reviews and conduct studies to influence collection and analysis, policy development, and strategy implementation for the IC.
- Develop IC-level investment strategies, and evaluate and champion proposals to ensure sufficient fiscal planning and resources for analysis and collection against WMD delivery systems and weaponization-related issues.
- Liaise with community officials to initiate outreach programs and ensure resources and priority attention is given to WMD delivery systems and weaponization-related analysis and collection.
- Brief senior officials and other major stakeholders regarding analytic enterprise issues and emerging trends concerning WMD delivery systems and weaponization-related collection and analysis.
- Collaborate with Office of the Director of National Intelligence leadership to develop innovative approaches, and provide structured recommendations focused on the advancement of collection and analysis against the proliferation of WMD delivery systems and weaponization efforts.
- Lead a professional staff, assess performance, oversee goal setting, and provide feedback on personal and professional development. Interact with managers to ensure compliance and collaboration with policies that aid in developing the organizational culture.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

- Expert knowledge of the IC's architecture as related to analysis, collection, nuclear weapon and delivery systems issues, and emerging trends across multiple analytic disciplines.
- Expert knowledge of WMD delivery systems and weaponization, including foreign developments, research, scientific and technical advancements, and denial and deception capabilities.
- Superior ability to identify emerging trends and strategic issues, and incorporate these in strategic plans for the organization and CP mission.
- Expert knowledge of technical collection capabilities related to requirements, exploitation, analysis, and emerging trends for WMD delivery systems and weaponization.
- Expert knowledge of IC organizations, mission posture, structures, capabilities, processes, and policy development.
- Strong analytic and critical thinking skills, including superior ability to think strategically and to identify requirements and develop innovative recommendations and solutions.
- Excellent oral and written communication skills, and demonstrated ability to communicate organizational vision, mission, and plans, and to logically analyze, synthesize, and evaluate multiple sources of information into clear and concise products.
- Superior interpersonal, negotiation, leadership skills, and ability to exert influence and build consensus.
- Superior ability to exercise independent judgment on time-sensitive issues, and to work independently and collaboratively.
