- A current Federal Government employee, selected for a detail, will be assigned to the position at his or her current grade and salary.

Component Mission

The Policy and Capabilities Directorate is focused on ensuring the IC is best postured to meet the future challenges and threats confronting our nation.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

- Deliver entry, mid, and senior executive-level programs (as assigned) for the IC workforce.
- Ensure that curricula, content, and program agenda support the IC priorities.
- Serve as an instructional facilitator using synchronous and asynchronous (online) instruction for interagency teams of students and for in-class plenary sessions and student working groups.
- Oversee projects with colleagues to enhance approved curricula, design innovative teaching methods, and strategies to engage students through both online and in-class venues.
- Lead assessments of program content, in-class sessions, and student projects and make substantive changes when warranted to ensure program relevancy and currency.
- Assist stakeholders and ILN affiliate members as appropriate.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

- Expert knowledge of the IC and knowledge of the ODNI organization.
- Superior ability to collaborate both internally and externally across organizations in a fast-paced national level environment.
- Extensive experience in delivering, assessing and improving learning and professional development programs, including curriculum development/instructional design, and the ability to translate workforce development needs based on IC missions, into high-quality, high-impact instructional and learning programs.
- Expertise using instructional technology and the Blackboard learning management system.
- Superior oral and written communication skills and demonstrated success in student engagement with instructional methods that address a variety of learning styles including collaborative techniques.

Desired Requirement

- Master's degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education in a field related to national security.
