Component Mission

The National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) leads our nation's effort to combat terrorism at home and abroad by analyzing the threat, sharing that information with our partners, and integrating all instruments of national power to ensure unity of effort. The Center serves as the primary organization in the United States Government (USG) for analyzing and integrating all intelligence possessed or acquired by the USG pertaining to terrorism and counterterrorism, and its Director serves as the Counterterrorism Mission Manager. NCTC also serves as the central and shared knowledge bank on known and suspected terrorists and international terrorist groups, as well as their goals, strategies, capabilities, and networks of contacts and support. In addition, NCTC conducts strategic operational planning for counterterrorism activities, coordinating and integrating the efforts of departments and agencies across the Federal Government.

The National Counterterrorism Center's Transnational Issues and WMD-CT Group delivers solutions, strategies, and capabilities for the next generation of CT operations. Leveraging the resources and authorities of the ODNI, NCTC, and Directorate for Strategic Operational Planning, and National Intelligence Manager for CT, the Group seeks to resolve operational impediments and increase mission effectiveness for our partners across the US Government.

The Transnational Issues and WMD-CT Group is seeking an experienced and highly motivated officer with a deep understanding of the counterterrorism and counter-WMD/CBRN infrastructure and current threat environment to serve as Issue Manager for Radiological & Nuclear Terrorism. The ideal candidate will have a strong professional network across the interagency, and be eager to lead solutions and initiatives that result in enduring, community-wide impact.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

Duties include:

Lead, unify, and advance U.S. Government efforts to counter terrorist acquisition of radiological or nuclear capabilities through the integration of intelligence, technology, partner engagement, and strategic operational planning.

Develop, propose, and implement actionable initiatives that enhance operational capabilities and resolve WMD-CT impediments across the intelligence, homeland defense, and national security communities.

Effectively partner and collaborate with stakeholders across the counterterrorism and counter proliferation communities who are focused on the acquisition and use of radiological and/or nuclear capabilities by non-state actors.

Develop and continually expand engagements and strategic planning with analytic, collection, S&T, and mission management colleagues across the ODNI and Intelligence Community.

Lead efforts to institutionalize information sharing and agency interoperability.

Develop integrated IC strategies for WMD-CT mission areas. Conduct analysis and provide recommendations on tradeoffs.

Champion the development of innovative solutions that leverage new technologies and intelligence capabilities in response to priority WMD-CT needs.

Establish and foster liaison relationships with academia, the business community, and other non-government subject matter experts to ensure the IC has a comprehensive understanding of radiological and nuclear issues.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

Knowledge of global nuclear weapons, proliferation, and terrorism issues, and knowledge of the IC's radiological, nuclear, CT, and counter-WMD/CBRN communities; extensive knowledge of the respective authorities, capabilities, and responsibilities of departments and agencies.

Strong ability to develop innovative and flexible solutions for complex cross-organizational issues pertaining to radiological/nuclear weapons and WMD-CT, taking initiative and making key contributions to group efforts.

Demonstrated interpersonal, organizational, and problem-solving skills, including a demonstrated ability to work effectively both independently and in a team or collaborative environment.

Demonstrated ability to communicate complex WMD-CT information clearly, concisely, and in a manner that is targeted to and meets the needs of diverse audiences to include senior-level policymakers and operational entities.

Creative problem-solving skills and superior ability to provide leadership in carrying out mission responsibilities.

Desired Requirements

Technical expertise on radiological and nuclear issues, including experience communicating technical assessments to both technical and non-technical audiences.
