Component Mission

The National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) leads our nation's effort to combat terrorism at home and abroad by analyzing the threat, sharing that information with our partners, and integrating all instruments of national power to ensure unity of effort. The Center serves as the primary organization in the United States Government (USG) for analyzing and integrating all intelligence possessed or acquired by the USG pertaining to terrorism and counterterrorism, and its Director serves as the Counterterrorism Mission Manager. NCTC also serves as the central and shared knowledge bank on known and suspected terrorists and international terrorist groups, as well as their goals, strategies, capabilities, and networks of contacts and support. In addition, NCTC conducts strategic operational planning for counterterrorism activities, coordinating and integrating the efforts of departments and agencies across the Federal Government.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

A component of the National Counterterrorism Center's Directorate of Intelligence, is looking for an enthusiastic and collaborative analyst to augment our efforts in assessing trends in Homegrown Violent Extremism and domestic violent extremism. These are issues of increasing importance to policymakers and NCTC fits a unique role in the IC in its ability to look holistically at the Homeland threat environment as well as domestic terrorism developments worldwide. An analyst in this position will work closely with counterparts across NCTC and the IC to develop an in-depth understanding of these topics and support policymakers, law enforcement, and other IC entities through sophisticated written analysis and briefings and other branch needs.

- Oversee, coordinate, lead, and communicate comprehensive, sophisticated, and current analyses of complex and significant national, regional, and/or global issues for senior policymakers and key components in the Intelligence Community (IC), law enforcement, and the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI).
- Oversee and lead the production of a broad range of finished intelligence products in support of United States (US) foreign policy and national security interests.
- Plan, prepare, and present written and oral briefings to the most senior internal and external customers on political, counterintelligence, or counterterrorism issues; explain the most complex concepts to non-expert customers and tailor the product to correspond to customer needs.
- Develop, utilize, and refine a full range of methodological tools and approaches to gain a comprehensive understanding of complex and significant analytic issues and incorporate insights and findings into well-crafted, sophisticated intelligence products.

- Lead, initiate, cultivate, and maintain productive working relationships with colleagues, experts, IC members, policy committees, and law enforcement agencies as appropriate and use these relationships to share information of interest; attend internal and external training, seminars, or conferences on broad or more strategic subject areas.
- Develop and continually expand personal knowledge in areas of expertise relevant to your work and achieve a government-wide reputation as a subject matter expert in this area.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

- Expert ability to effectively plan and lead the development of high-quality, complex analyses, studies, projects, assignments, and briefings on key US foreign policy and national security objectives focused on a specific region or transnational issue for IC consumers and policymakers at the highest levels of government.
- Superior and recognized analytic and critical thinking skills, including superior ability to think strategically while also managing detail-oriented work habits.
- Superior ability to produce analytic finished intelligence related to the subject matter issue as lead analyst and broad knowledge of the role of intelligence analysis within the IC.
- Ability to communicate effectively and maintain regular contact with peers, management, and counterparts across the USG.
- Superior ability to work effectively both independently and in a team or collaborative environment, and mentor junior colleagues
- In addition to their resume, applicants should submit a 1-2 page qualifications statement that aligns their experience and skills to the requirements listed here. Applicants are strongly encouraged to provide an analytic writing sample and recent performance reviews as well.

Desired Requirements

- Prior work experience or advanced academic study on homegrown violent extremism or domestic violent extremism.
