Component Mission

The Policy and Capabilities Directorate is focused on ensuring the IC is best postured to meet the future challenges and threats confronting our nation.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

Apply program management principles, techniques, services, and practices to effectively conduct oversight of Intelligence Community (IC) Space acquisition programs. In order to be effective in an oversight role, the Acquisition Program Manager must have a technical background and have experience managing large acquisition programs. This position is accountable for credible cost, schedule, and performance reporting to the Director of National Intelligence (DNI).

This position includes collaboration with ODNI staff and IC Element focal points for program initiation and assessing current program performance.

This position also includes effectively collaborating with acquisition oversight counterparts in the Department of Defense and other agencies.

Ensure recognition of identified program needs to inform and begin the requirements validation process.

Lead and integrate functional teams to analyze potential Space program requirements and refine program requirements and continuously coordinate with users to determine appropriate interpretation.

Conduct advanced acquisition planning and programming to produce the acquisition and investment strategy and coordinate with the acquisition through the contracting process (e.g., contracting milestones, solicitation, source selection, award, negotiation, and administration).

Oversee the preparation, justification, and/or administration of budgets and monitor expenditures for program areas.

Lead, plan, organize, staff, and monitor specific acquisition programs to ensure they meet cost, schedule, and performance requirements throughout the life cycle and maintain accountability for accurate and credible cost, schedule, and performance reporting.

Establish and oversee a risk management approaches to ensure program success.

Manage ongoing working relationships and expectations with customers, stakeholders, users, and decision authorities throughout the program life cycle.

Oversee, monitor, and approve the technical strategy against requirements while ensuring an End to End integration view across the Community.

Ensure mission assurance (e.g. quality, maintainability, affordability, supportability, and training) for products and/or services throughout the program life cycle.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

Expert understanding of roles and missions of enterprise (e.g., agency, department, IC) and other external factors. Superior ability to perceive organizational and political reality and expert understanding of how actions by one entity affect others to identify practical solutions for enterprise mission accomplishment.

Superior skill to align programs with strategic goals and understand end-to-end (E2E) enterprise implications.

Expert understanding of the organization's financial processes. Superior ability to oversee procurement and contracting to achieve desired results; monitor expenditures and analyze cost-benefits to set priorities.

Superior ability to develop collaborative information and expert knowledge sharing networks, and ability to build alliances with colleagues and counterparts within and/or across the organization, the IC, other government/private organizations, or professional/technical disciplines to achieve organizational outcomes.

Superior ability to persuade others, build consensus through give and take, and gain cooperation from others to obtain information and accomplish goals.

Superior ability to develop and maintain effective working relationships, especially in difficult situations (e.g. when defending or critiquing a position). Superior ability to demonstrate and foster respect, understanding, courtesy, tact, and empathy. Considers varied cultural backgrounds, work experience, and organizational roles in working with others.

Superior ability to develop new insights into situations and apply innovative solutions to problems and to improve processes. Designs new methods and tools where established methods and procedures are inapplicable, unavailable, or ineffective.

Expert knowledge to identify and understand issues throughout the IC and external agencies to draw conclusions. Superior ability to choose an approach, develop solutions, and take action consistent with IC values, available facts, constraints, and probable consequences.

Expert understanding of the interrelationships among organizations and components of the IC. Expert understanding of how one's own work impacts, and is impacted by, the mission and operations of IC organizations and components, and uses this information to maximize contribution to mission accomplishment.

Superior ability to identify and use principles, rules, and relationships to construct arguments or interpret facts, data, or other information. Superior ability to dissect problems into meaningful parts and uses logic and judgment to determine accuracy and relevance of data. Superior ability to identify and reconcile gaps, uncertainties, and key assumptions of data. Superior ability to integrate evidence/information, evaluate and prioritize alternatives, and assess similarities and differences in data to develop findings and conclusions. Expert understanding of potential implications of these findings or conclusions.

Superior ability to use experiences and challenges as opportunities to improve and become more effective. Pursues assignments and other developmental opportunities to stretch skills and to further professional growth. Superior ability to improve the capacity of others and the organization through mentoring, coaching, and knowledge sharing.

Expert ability to identify, interpret, comply with, and stay current on relevant regulations, guidelines, laws, and directives.

Experience: Managing large acquisition programs.

Education:

Bachelor's degree in Business Administration, Management, or technical discipline such as Engineering or Information Technology.

Certifications/Licenses:

Project/Program Management Advanced/Expert Level certification or equivalent.
